SENEDIA Event Recap

TECH TALKS: Annual Naval Technology Exercise (ANTX 2017)

SENEDIA has launched a Tech Talks series to expose, explore and share defense related technologies and applications. Our first event, 17 January, was on NUWC Division Newport's Annual Naval Technology Exercise (ANTX) with Tom Fulton, System Assessment Branch Head, NUWC Division Newport, providing an overview of the 2016 ANTX and the upcoming 2017 August ANTX event, Battlespace Preparation in a Contested Environment. An overview of the Narragansett Bay Test Facility was also provided.

TECH TALKS: Large Displacement Unmanned Underwater Vehicle (LDUUV) Acquisition Strategy

On 7 February, Dr. Brian McKeon, Department Head, Undersea Warfare Weapons, Vehicles, and Defensive Systems, NUWC Division Newport, shared the acquisition vision and technical requirements for the next generation unmanned underwater vehicles. The LDUUV program will design, fabricate and field a new class of large-displacement unmanned undersea vehicles intended to provide increased endurance, range and payload capabilities.
